Our take on 4X is classic and deep, from the turn-based interaction to the random generation. Not only you control your military, you are also the boss of your own realm. Find and break alliances, wage war or just trade freely. A strong economy grows your military, a strong military brings you glory and riches. That is how it should be. Unlike other 4X games, the game world exists only in your imagination. The rulebook provides detailed information about settings, factions, factions relations and the basics of the game. In contrast to a typical 4X game, all characters are single units. As a result, you can customize a lot more aspects of your characters. It brings up thousands of possibilities that you can experience in all facets of the game. New things will be added in the future, but please start playing with the game to see what this means! This game is still in development and new features and systems are added from time to time. Feel free to contact us with any questions and suggestions. A: In addition to the already-listed Dungeon Keeper and XCom, there are plenty of others (that I don't have at the moment) that might fall under the scope of the genres to look for: Planeshift (2004) Warhammer Fantasy Tactics (2008) Amnesia: The Dark Descent (2011) Heroes of Normandie (2011) Warcraft III: Reign of Chaos (2005) Legacy of Kain (2010) Wii U GamePad (2015) All of these are pretty light on the strategy. Especially if you're just looking for random, you could run into some problems. A: There's always Dwarf Fortress as well. (And if you want something a little more strategy-y, you can always add Faster-Than-a-Walfington's other answer...) You are here Explore Discover the unique nature of your own country by touring the Dolomites with Hiking Navigator. In most countries, this is as simple as it sounds. Reviews I haven’t played any of the other Logic Quest games and yet I like how they keep it simple, but at the same time, they add fun things such as improving your characters with points you collect by hitting enemies and various other things that make it more fun.9/10 Critical Gamer Ministry of War is a first person sci-fi tactical shooter that challenges you to survive while keeping your squad alive. Not an easy feat.Ministry of War is a tactical first person shooter where you play as an elite soldier. You are an elite soldier of the Ministry of War. Don't let the name fool you; the Ministry isn't known for its love of tactics. Reviews Ministry of War is an interesting attempt to make a sci-fi first-person shooter. While some people will enjoy the game for its cool graphics, to others, it will seem like a very difficult experience to grasp. The core gameplay of the game is decent, with plenty of weapons, some interesting melee attacks and a good AI, however, the overall controls and overall level design leave a lot to be desired.If you want to play a fun first-person shooter experience and don't want to pay the high prices of Triple A games, try out Ministry of War. Reviews Tired of the same old standard shooter? Are you looking for a more serious combat game with a great single player mode? Then look no further than The Tomorrow Corporation's new intense combat simulation game I am Bread.I am Bread is a fast paced, action packed and highly addicting game. Using a variety of RPG like skills that are acquired through the game. You'll need to plan your attack from the beginning of the game and beat the whole map with just your wits and an unlimited amount of energy! Reviews The gameplay in I Am Bread is fast-paced, with some RPG aspects that make it interesting to play. The story, however, is not very satisfying, and the game lacks variety.Overall, if you are looking for a fast-paced action game with a good story and fun to play, try out I Am Bread. - Problems And Solutions Dear whitecommunity, Looking for advice on the Starry Moon Island Red Snakes, I'm loving fishing the Tarpon with this lure but unfortunately it seems to be a pain in the a to use on Biscayne Bay. The reason for which is it seems to attract ALL the damn birds. Looking to get some trolling baits but all of them seem to be made in Biscaynes and are not as great as the Starry Moon, you know, Nymph-Bass-Lure, etc. I'm looking for solutions on how to design a lure that can be used effectively on Biscaynes, where it attracts less birds. If there's a trick or something out there, please help me or be kind enough to give me an explanation of why it's not great. I do get fish with it, as I know some of you know... but I would like to have a more effective way of getting them so they don't have to bump into the smaller ones to get them. Thanks Try a 6 pound test fluro rod and reel, though it is hard to find one at a decent price in your area. Use Redman speedies and I tube a tear bait as you troll for mature male sunsets. It is simply a size issue, the 6 pounder will probably win more battles with the smaller ronin than the smaller lure. Tricky luring problems? Bring them in when they come! There is much more diverse fish in Biscayne Bay than in the intercoastal waterways. The similarities are some species are species interchangeabler, but that's a grander way of saying they are very similar in shape and body. If you have the time you might want to have a local marine scientist teach you the specific fish of Biscayne Bay. After that, a simplified introduction on structure might be helpful.
