What's so great about Photoshop Elements? The number one thing about Photoshop Elements is its ease of use. PS is famous for being a professional image editing application but it's not exactly designed to be a beginner's tool. Elements is designed to be simple enough that anyone can pick it up and use it, because the interface is easy to use. In many people's opinion, the bottom-line reason why people use Photoshop is that it's advanced. Not only do they use Photoshop for serious, non-portable projects, but they also want the files to be highly portable. Elements has enough "advanced features" to handle those needs while being simple enough to use for everyone. Of course, this doesn't mean that Elements has no advanced features. The things that distinguish Elements are the different Photoshop Elements features that you can add to your document. We'll discuss these features in more depth shortly, but they include tools that you don't find in Photoshop. Elements also has different type of features that sets it apart from Photoshop, including: Elements now has a feature called Smart Object. Smart Objects are layers that allow you to make edits to images on another layer. Elements supports layers that contain vector shapes, and smart objects in layers. Any layer that contains vector shapes can be edited and manipulated with another layer. Smart layers help to make digital art more convenient by allowing them to be edited on an existing layer. Photoshop is a powerful product, but it's not the only image editing program. Photoshop Elements is simple and powerful in its own right. Elements users tend to be loyal to the product and find it a natural fit for all sorts of projects. How many hours do you need to learn Photoshop to achieve good editing results? Given that the bulk of the time you invest learning Photoshop will go into editing images, it might be worthwhile to consider whether Photoshop Elements is the best route to go. You don't need to learn the full version of Photoshop to achieve good results with Elements, as it has many of the same features. Like most software, there is a learning curve. Editing with Photoshop is very much a matter of learning what the program can do for you, as opposed to acquiring expertise with a single feature. a681f4349e

Featured Research from universities, journals, and other organizations Bones beware: How quickly do sheep's teeth snap? Date: September 21, 2012 Source: University of Canterbury Summary: The sound a sheep's teeth makes while biting through the grass is an iconic noise associated with the act of grazing. But a new study has found the rate at which sheep's teeth "snap" when chewing is no slower than previously thought. The findings may have implications for the design of animal-scale robotics. Share This The sound a sheep's teeth makes while biting through the grass is an iconic noise associated with the act of grazing. But a new study led by the University of Canterbury has found the rate at which sheep's teeth "snap" when chewing is no slower than previously thought. This finding may have implications for the design of animal-scale robots. Related Articles The research, published in the Proceedings of the Royal Society B, combined the high speed camera-based analysis of animal bone movement with experiments using computer models to capture the biomechanical process of biting. Jonathan North, professor of biology at the University of Canterbury and lead researcher on the study, said the study adds to a range of biomechanical data from natural and engineered systems. "Dental joints act as dynamic systems, and we have shown they operate, and act, in a similar way to engineering joints -- they are compression and shear systems," Dr North said. "Newer engineering techniques and algorithms are emerging for designing flexible joints, and applying the findings of this research may have implications for designing simple, strong joints that more closely mimic the animal example." The bones of the mouth are highly mobile and capable of large range of motion while the teeth are more fixed and perform at slower speeds. Dr North said measurements taken in the study revealed a variety of parameters; such as the range and speed of displacement. "The displacement of the teeth in relation to the jaw bone is also important," he said. "The time it takes the teeth to reach a critical point in their cycle of movement is called the characteristic chewing or 'snap' speed. "We found that the design of the sheep's upper jaw is particularly well adapted to the fast snapping of the lower jaw, particularly in

The Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee has released the transcript of an interview with National Rifle Association Executive Vice President Wayne LaPierre (recording obtained by Breitbart News). In the interview, LaPierre warned of a "well-orchestrated plan" to eliminate private gun ownership in the United States, and stated that he will "do everything in my power to stop [Democratic presidential nominee] Hillary Clinton from appointing ... an anti-Second Amendment judge to the United States Supreme Court." In the interview (transcript below), LaPierre warned that the Obama administration is working on a "well-orchestrated plan" to eliminate private gun ownership: It's now been revealed that you have a secret plan, a well-orchestrated plan to ensure that the Constitution is replaced in its entirety with a radical new constitution of your own drafting, in which government now decides what rights you have. That's not what we're supposed to do. We were all told that the Founders established a limited government where the government is the people and the people's will is established. Now you're saying that no, there's a well-orchestrated plan to reverse the Founders and make the government, not the people, determine the rights that we have. I want to know what you're planning. I want to know what you're planning to do, because I'm going to do everything in my power to stop it, to stop this destruction of our Second Amendment and all the other amendments that protect our personal rights. LaPierre claims that Clinton is planning to fill the Supreme Court with a "Justice" who will "change the entire constitutional system of the United States": [Clinton's] nomination of a Justice to the United States Supreme Court will change the entire constitutional system of the United States of America. The forces of radical activism and opposition to the two-term limit on a president will seize control of the Supreme Court by electing justices who will change the entire constitutional system and hand-pick the law of the land. It will change the entire constitutional system of the United States. LaPierre said that a Trump presidency would "protect our Second Amendment." When asked by committee chair Sen. Joe Lieberman (I-CT) about the NRA's endorsement of Trump, LaPierre stated that "our
