December 10, 2019 - Do you know if they make any plugins... I'm a little surprised because I didn't have any problems running on my own server. This is definitely not dependent on my site. I think it's an Apache configuration issue I did some research and found out that this was caused by some of the Apache configuration files (see also the Troubleshooting section and the link to my question). I hope this helps someone else! Here is an example of what I found (for this example, it might not be very important):
