What's new:

Bed Lying Simulator: Girlfriend Experience (BLS:GE) is a video game released for Microsoft Windows, PlayStation 4 and Xbox One on June 19, 2015. It is a first-person lolicon game by indie developer Boundary. Betty Kao and her friends decide to try being friends with their school's resident monster, Martin the Slut. However, their attempts are made far more complicated when they find out that both Martin and Jack, the school's 'normie' student, have crushes on them. The player must act as Betty, and each of Betty's friends, in order to get through the school and figure out this crazy new power. The game was made as a parody of the 2005 American drama-thriller film The Girl Next Door, about a family waking up one morning to discover that their daughter Chris has grown up before their very eyes and is now living next door. The 2013 homonym video game, The Game Next Door, had taken the game's title from this film. On June 23, 2015, about two weeks after release, the game became available on Steam. Because of this, the entire story was ported into English. The Steam version's editor also allowed the game to keep being updated. Gameplay The player has to interact with the game's protagonist Betty, as well as her friends Kaoru, Leo, Alf, Goh, and Charlie, within the confines of the school. Betty, Kaoru, Alf, Leo, and Goh are seen regularly throughout the game's story narrative. Development Game director Tom Sharpe said in a December 2013 interview that the game had been created at the suggestion of another indie developer, Fred Baker, who bought the rights to the game. Sharpe saw the game's potential as free mobile game, and felt that bounding the game on a limited budget would place a number of restrictions on what could be done, and what the audience would respond to, and worried that it might be too short and boring. Betty Kao and her friends (including Goh), all of whom are featured in the original Japanese release, were all devised by Sharpe, on a suggestion by composer Cory Thomas, who wanted to make more "girlfriend experience" games after the success of The Game Next Door. He drew inspiration from his own life as the only female in a mostly-male game development team, and asked the rest of the team for feedback, rather than just
