What's new in Crayon Chronicles:

Runs: 567Written By: Jim ChannonFootball Analysis and Scouts Careers Site 2014 Studs: A sturdy base of offense with headliner safeties, depth at the O-line. 2014 Sleepers: Sophomore Carlos Henderson and 2015 JC recruit Billy Greene came on strong in 2014. All in all, second-year stud Xavier Cooper had a terrific spring. 2015 JC four-star Aryan Foster also just about lived up to all the hype. 2015 Stars: WR Jonathan Vickers was in 2013 and has much more game left, still not close to seeing his full potential. Too often while watching him attempt to make plays, coaches would yell out C Nick Reddish was the better receiver earlier. Sophomore CB Landon Feierabend makes the list, too, a sleeper the Crew hope to eventually add. 2015 Sleepers: DB Jacob Middleton's athleticism caught the eye of head coach Gregg Williams, saving him a redshirt. Three-star ATH Alqami Rice could've used more time as a back-up to go along with his athletic prowess. Impact Losses: We've listed injured/redshirt seniors as well. Quarterback L.J. Smith is out for a little while, and all signs point to him being back with a foot injury. Senior WR Royce Pollard re-aggravated his knee, originally suffering it last season. Safeties This is a dangerous secondary, all three main starters are capable of switching out on either side of the ball. If anyone, at least one, gets injured, Mr. Rodden's coordinators will have a terrific hard to replace. Safety was a glaring weakness for the program in 2013, with no help from the O-line. Coaches say they are working on it, adding a tall safety a split second too late to avoid the big hit. The Crew got a pair of 5'11", 222 freshman safeties out of San Antonio Allen, Neal Hopkins, and Brandon Hart for 2014. Those safety spots will be open to battle this spring. 2014 Defensive Honors: Among DBs, Darrion Owens earned first-team All-SACJC honors and a spot on the preseason 2015 second-team All-SACJC team, the best cornerback defense in the state. Top 2014 Targets: Two four-star safety prospects, Ohio State commit Jaiden Woodbey and Texas pledge Christian
