ELDEN RING ARENA BOSS There's no doubt, this is the best series I've played the past 2 years. The best thing about this game is that it doesn't get old. It isn't due to over doing. With the update, they changed the whole concept and battles. The new system with RPG elements is one of a kind, and I loved it. The game's visuals are very well done. The music is simple, but it fits the mood of the game perfectly. It has a very balanced class system. You can just carry on playing the game. Each class has its own strengths and weaknesses. The ultimate goal is to reach the top of the leaderboard. You can even create a lobby that you are able to play with other people. SOUND: 6.5/10 The music is simple but nice and fits the mood of the game. The voice acting is good. Each class has its unique voice actors. The opening theme is catchy and easy to listen to. STORY: 8/10 The story was very well done. It sets the atmosphere really well. After the release of these update, the story became rather cliché. A new and clever story can only be made if the characters still have some interesting things to say. The characters have rather interesting backstories. They all helped make the plot twists in the story come to life. Besides the story, there's a twist with each new area and boss that comes up with the game. There's even a backstory and a long ending that are all surprisingly entertaining. The main reason to play the game is the story and mystery. GRAPHICS: 9.5/10 The art style is completely hand-drawn. The art style looks very well done. The hand-drawn style is mixed with the modern graphics to give it a unique and fresh feel. The backgrounds are really well done. Each town has a unique feel of its own. From the pure and artistic feeling of the cliffs, to the non-stop factory of metal, everything is well thought out. The visuals are not only beautifully crafted, but also very diverse. Unlike most RPG's, ELDEN RING game can be enjoyed to the maximum on small screens. SOUNDTRACK: 7/10 The background music fits the game. The soundtrack has a simple, yet very relaxing and nice feel. MISCELLANE bff6bb2d33

Formation and distribution of epithelial lamina propria mucosal cells during maturation of rat duodenal mucosa. We studied the formation and distribution of basement membrane, epithelial lamina propria mucosal cells, and villus-subepithelial cells in the duodenal epithelium of suckling rats at different ages. A large number of Bowman's glands were present during the first two weeks after birth. They were small and irregularly shaped. The glands became larger, formed a basket-like pattern around blood vessels, and exhibited a dilated epithelial cell population. Next, focal proliferation of epithelial cells began at the base of the glands and thinned the basement membrane. The glands became slightly larger in volume and their dilated epithelial cells were occupied by squamous cells. The formation and distribution of Bowman's glands and their relationship to the lamina propria mucosal cells were the same between suckling and weaned rats, except for in the difference in the basement membrane thickness. During weaning, the size and number of Bowman's glands decreased, basal cell proliferation decreased, and the basement membrane thickened. We found focal proliferation of epithelial cells (chief and parietal cells) in the lamina propria mucosa in the blunted region at the base of the duodenum. They invaded the subepithelial tissue and formed the cytological continuum with the lamina propria mucosal cells. At 5 days after birth, the epithelial cells were distributed discontinuously. At the main site of proliferation of subepithelial cells, the lamina propria mucosal cell populations were more developed than in the blunted region. Our observations indicate that the differentiation and maturation of duodenal mucosa depend on the differentiation and proliferation of lamina propria mucosal cells. The police allege that, during a raid last year at a flat in Belfast which he was renting, he killed Griffin after an "altercation" between the pair. It is understood that there is not enough evidence to bring criminal proceedings. But, in a move which may presage further arrests, he is being remanded to custody for six weeks. Reality TV star, Kim Kardashian has insisted she "does not believe in a man-made climate change" during the final showdown of the series of the National Geographic's show "Climate Kids". During the show, which aired on Tuesday, the mother of three offered her views on climate change, a topic that was dominated by the thousands of question she was asked from contestants aged 3 to 6. Kardashian said that global warming was not man-made, but was instead caused by nature and the sun. "We are one big family, man, nature and I believe that it is our children that are going to live with the consequences of what we are doing to the environment, and not just our children but the future generations coming," she declared. Another contestant who asked the question across a blue screen was Monty Clements, a fifth-grader from the Bronx who wanted the question answered by her teacher. "I wish my teacher told me that I can do something about this to help protect our environment," she said, stressing she liked being outside. Kardashian poked fun at her husband, basketball player Kanye West, who had recently went on a Twitter rant lambasting Democrats and giving a silent nod to climate change deniers. "I wanted to see who would get the best job in this job interview even though Kanye West barely knows how to tie his shoe," she said in the show, one of countless occasions where Kardashian would poke fun at her celebrity husband. "This is an important interview that bears on all our futures." The 38-year-old showed her strength by swivelling around in a dance. The show won an Emmy in 2013 for outstanding educational program.
