Despite that the knives in the box clearly say "For Palm Beach Cutlery" on them, they are not manufactured in the USA. They are made in Mexico. You can see the proof in the link above. I checked as close as I could recall to the store in my box - a plain box - no markings of any kind.

The one of the camera was the palm beach signature if you look at the side very closely. The one in the palm was not a palm beach signature. It was the same one as the one you posted in the link - you can see the base is different color and maybe a small inch or two thicker. I do not believe your supposition is correct. I will try to dig up pictures from the store to make it more clear. They are made in a different factory than Palmetto. Maybe not even in the same area. The trademark is the same on both knives, the quality of the knives themselves is the same as the PDX brand, but the boxes are different. The quality of the knives are not enough of a difference between the two to make me pay the extra 2-3 times as much for the drop pouch. I don't believe you. I called one of the retailers where you said it was bought and they said it was not purchased there. I believe you called the wrong store to ask the question. If you go to your local store to make sure I hope they will be happy to call the correct store for you. Q: I don't understand □□□□, what does it mean here?
