game starts with each player an extra gold piece in the form of a piece of art a player captures a piece by moving their pawn one-space. Art pieces are attacked by the opponent pawns Art pieces can move all over the board the game ends when one player captures all of their opponent's pieces Customers who purchased the artwork at the show were able to unlock the Mr. Jiver Art Chess set for free, by playing in an online lobby with a friend. The best of both worlds - the realism and speed of the game of chess and the artistic creativity of the artist. Explore the board and make a move in this game, created exclusively for Chess Ultra. With a unique combination of vivid colours and masterful spray work, the Mr. Jiver Art Chess set is truly one of a kind. Created by London based street artist Mr. Jiver, it features a special chess set which can be used in any environment in the game. The player receives extra bonuses for capturing all opponent pieces in one turn. Features: Staunton chess board pieces with a stunning hand painted artworks on each An active online lobby with a friend Five unique game settings Unique tactical bonus in one of the game settings New stock units for both player Unique mission system allowing each player to open their own missionsTwo young women don't normally go to class together, but they do share one thing: a penchant for a childhood friend. The two had been friends for most of their lives, and their feelings for one another were as strong as ever. But as the girls were growing up, their friendship was threatened by the strictures of their families and the snobbery of their neighborhood. And then, their friendship was threatened by the birth of their baby brother. Right now, it's tough to tell if the single greatest moment of one's life has even happened yet. TBI is beginning to venture into the deep end of conversation, but for now, it's enough to know that being a parent is awesome. sounds to me like a flavor packed gourmet burrito, you know kinda like cantaloupe and lemon-lime soda!! I have been thinking of fixing something like that for my recipe newbie daughter for breakfast Saturday. Thanks for the post. Love to sit in my morning cup in my garden and read the posts. For Brie and for Mr. Sweet, if you are watching from up above, I am fixing a huge dinner at my house too, after a long work day, something with red peppers and tomatoes and I can't remember what else and (big surprise) hummus. I will have a long weekend of fun and relaxation ahead of me. I recently replied to my Mother and a friend, they were both planning on having the bouillon over the weekend. I told them that sounded very convent to me. Hehe, but I am glad their comments kept me thinking, and behaving what was I talking about? Niki, for real? Hummus sounds awful to me. The Brie will be adorable, you are so inventive. I have started thinking about making some hummus but I won't tell folks what I am serving. I know what you mean about enjoying time on the computer. I have seen a few friends pop in on my site and tell me they were out with their friends enjoying shopping and having lunch and what not. Last week we had our first rain here in the peninsula. This week we are experiencing deluges! Hi all, I haven't had much time to reply to comments lately as work has gotten very busy. Really it is too hot to spend much time standing out in it. Today however the weather cleared and I think I will be spending all day in my garden. Love the layout you have. So refreshing to have a lovely and relaxing place to visit. Yesterday I finally gave in and made some homemade bread that I have been eying for almost a year now and still haven't ordered it online. Here are some pictures. One of my failings is that I never do things in small enough portions until I am starving or something bad is going to happen as I am so afraid of my size. Enjoying a dip of lime juice and water, and the bread is starting to come out. I am getting some excellent reviews on this so I am glad I went ahead and made it. Love seeing you Ms Quackenbush, I have always enjoyed you and the good times we had on Bklyn where you are from
