Solstice® is a sci-fi strategy RPG of space combat, base building, tech research, resource gathering, management, and diplomacy. Play solo or in local or online multiplayer as a captain of a fleet or faction vying to be the last Solstice® faction standing. Features: • Set your fleet apart from the enemy by choosing from six distinct character color palettes. • Build new ships, weapons, and bases to gain an edge on the battlefield. • Rebuild your base on planets in real-time to use as a future hub for research or defense. • Acquire new technology to open new avenues for diplomacy, war, or trade. • Join a faction to develop its own special abilities and traits. • Together, you and your faction will struggle for resources in a dynamic, evolving galaxy. Please note that subsequent updates to the game may cause the success rate for the Star Chart’s Spice Stars reward to change. BASE BUILDING Planet – Research gives you access to new technologies and grants you access to that planet’s tech tree. Techs are divided into Types – which consume different resources and grant different characteristics. Research stars – Space Scientists fill research stars depending on your faction’s affinity for that science type. Defenses – The planet’s defenses are based on what your faction collects on the planet: The better your defenses, the more the planet will resist attacks. Hull – The planets’ hulls are based on the planets’ defense and how many you have on them. Resources – A planet’s resources are based on its hull type. Each planet has a ceiling on how much of a resource they can have based on their hull type. Planets with high-defense hulls will be harder to attack. COLOURFUL EMPERORS Ship – Every type of ship has its own look, feel, and style. Choose between several different designs. Name – Ships of this type are named by combining elements from the Planet name and the faction name. Max Capacities – They can hold a maximum number of spaceships and stuff. This also determine’s how powerful a ship is. Speed – Ships with higher speed are able to move more quickly than slower ships. Energy – The energy of a ship is measured by the number of energy bars it has. Energy is used to c9d1549cdd

What's new in Yaga - Roots Of Evil:

22 Chapter Text Yang and Xiao Long sat together in the backseat of the cream colored sedan that Xiao Long had simply plucked off of the streets of Atlas and commandeered to take them on a drive through the city to search for targets. Yang had seemed to be excitable recently, like she knew what she was doing and quickly learned that she was best suited to take her time and carefully gather information before making any sort of drastic move. Especially given the person sat next to her, who had announced his intentions to ruin the world earlier today. She'd told her partner about the arrival of the Forever Knights while they were eating lunch. About how they turned up at her and Xiao Long's house out of the blue and proceeded to start shooting at some armed guerillas who had already assaulted their home. About the way Ruby had been such a big help, putting together a plan to ambush the Forever Knights and help them track an old member of the White Fang who had helped Yang get away from Beacon. And about the way the Forever Knights started a fire, and sent a team of police officers to chase Yang and Ruby outside. About how it felt foolish at the time and as much as her ears had liked the thrill of avoiding prison, she found herself regretting the fact that she could no longer move freely and quietly with her partner. Not that she really thought they could get caught or anything, just that they certainly didn't have a easy way to go about sneaking around. It was one thing to move to Vale in the first place, but now moving around was a little bit more than just buying candy and running away from the cops. Anyways, that was all that had happened, they'd had a little time to reflect and talk about what to do, and decided that it was best to keep quiet for the time being. They certainly didn't want to get caught twice, doing something they regret, especially since their last relationship had been so quick and clean, they hadn't really done much to build up a future for themselves. Also, it was now in Yang's long term memory to call the police if they ever caught her. At least, that was how she explained the episode to her partner. Xiao Long said that they could come clean about everything later, after they had everything figured out, but that Yang should stop calling the cops if she ever ran into any trouble, even though Xiao Long didn't know what "everything" meant. After a few miles of little happen

LightVR creates a unique immersive experience by using a web browser's built-in functionality, the most popular browser in the world - Google Chrome. With a browser window as its only interface, LightVR lets users access the immersive world of VR with open source tools and its "Light" content creation API. For those of you that may not know, a "content creation" API is just a set of features that let you do more cool stuff with a web browser. It basically connects all the web browsers out there to each other without the need for any external software. What's so special about LightVR is that it does not need any type of additional hardware to make it work. All you need is a Google Chrome(not Google Chrome Extensions) and a "Light" enabled Chrome extension and LightVR will be ready to go. It works both on Windows and Mac, hence we don't need to have two different machines to enjoy it. For those of you that like to dream about things, LightVR gives the ability to create as many custom web apps you like. If you're a screen-less user, LightVR allows you to keep on working while in VR. Some examples are YouTube, Skype, Photoshop, Google Hangouts, Reddit, Slack, Github, Twitter, 4th Wall Studios, Fixel Studios, and many more. All it takes is adding the link to the content creation API to the opened LightVR window. Another impressive thing about LightVR is its price. Currently, the web app is free to use. There are no additional fees to use it, which goes along way with all the amazing content creation tools that it has to offer. The developer's website states the following: "LightVR is free and open source software. It is distributed under the GNU General Public License and can be freely downloaded and distributed. There is no charge for its usage. You can use it in commercial as well as in non-commercial projects for free. LightVR uses the popular open-source WebVR API, so its source code is also available on GitHub." What are you waiting for? Do yourself a favor and check it out. The present invention relates generally to the field of social networking, and more specifically, to identifying users based on social events. For many users in social networks, obtaining information about their friends can be difficult. Users often want a comprehensive set of information about their friends,
