ChronoShark is a fast-paced RTS game where you must build armies and crush your enemies. But don't take our word for it, watch the in-game video and try the demo! Players can take their time to unlock and build their gigantic marine vessels to unleash the power of the oceans. Build a number of structures in the world map, collect resources, and transform them into fun super weapons. Your special abilities will make the difference between success and failure. You can also transport your units on land to the enemy base, or have them swim away, making use of the islands and atolls all over the map. There are even hazard rocks to help you out. You will be challenged to build units and upgrades, including the fabled ChronoShark and Chronovore, and face up to eight enemies at once in the Battle Arena. Two players can play together locally in local split-screen mode. You can also play the game using just the mouse and keyboard. Story: Based on the famous Japanese animated film, you are the last remaining hero of the world. You must rescue the children from the Darkness, re-unite the missing parts of the world, and stop the evil sea invader Shura. I am making a game based on a cute anime called Chrono Shredder, but this game is much better. You play as our heroine Susan, after a terrible incident that causes her to lose her memory, she is on a mission to find the items required to counter Shura.

In the meantime, she meets up with an unusual trio of swimmers. Our main character, a powerful engine named Turbo, has all the gear and other equipment you need to level up. His friends are Gravity, who's a swimming type, Boogie, who's a machine man and Surf, who can change the tide of an ocean wave. Then there's a scientist named Robot Guy, an old dude who has been experimented on by monsters named The Abyss, a huge menacing shark named Shura, and the ever iconic Chrono, a construct that changes the time flow. The first mission is to find a cave that contains Shura's core. We meet a boy, April, who has a crush on our heroine. However, the cave is located in an island belonging to an orange colored cat named Cake Man, who resents Susan for eating his feline friend, Dorly. There is a game here, in which the cat

Be warned: the city has fallen to the Lord of Shadows, an evil force born of darkness that uses its unholy powers to corrupt and seduce the innocent. Eros, a banished demon, has returned to Venice in search of his three stolen hearts. He has left a trail of destruction in his wake. Now you must piece together the remains of a vicious curse, uncover Eros's murderous plans, and unravel a grand conspiracy before the Lord of Shadows is unleashed on all of Venice's blood. Enter the world of the lawless Wild West, where gun battles are common place, and the local hangman doesn't take prisoners. To solve the mystery of the rustlers who murdered a sheriff and stolen his money and a vicious gang of outlaws who are taking over the region, you must prove yourself as the ruthless killer of your dreams. The highly anticipated third installment of the cult-classic series. The Town of Lost Memories begins when a mysterious boy named Kael defeats a powerful enemy and buries himself in the ground. The ground begins to spin and create a new world. People begin to transform into creatures known as "Zoopas," animals which grow to enormous sizes. As the monsters run rampant across the land, the boy Kael is visited by a girl, Nino, and her two friends, and they embark on a quest to search for Kael, to figure out what happened to him, and to destroy the world that is spinning around them. The adventure begins: You arrive at the town of Lost Memories. A mysterious boy called Kael arrives at the town. As you enter the town, you will notice that it seems to be a peaceful town. "Once a year, the townsfolk go on holiday," a guard informs you. It is snowing lightly and the town is bustling with activity. Suddenly, a large group of monsters burst into the town from a hole in the ground. "This is war! This is war!" a guard shouts. The monsters keep attacking the town. "Don't let them get through! Use your weapons!" a guard
