This is your blockchain-certified guard dog. A Raspberry Pi and a wireless networked camera were used to create these high-tech guardian robots, while a touch sensor enabled the dogs to distinguish between an intruder and a kid. The concept behind GuardSense is to create a new kind of guard dog, one that is networked and future proof. The Arduino concept is much more about the constant evolution of technology, and how it can be integrated into everything. In an effort to bring programming to kids, GuardSense was designed from the ground up to be as kid-friendly as possible, and it worked. This is a device that kids want to interact with, and the guardian robot enjoyed it as well.
