In the game you must use turrets and add upgrades and new construction points to the defensive perimeter to protect a key area of "turret base". Sorting out the best locations to construct turrets, build rocket launchers and collect coins is a crucial and often frustrating part of the game. Each level has a unique configuration and the level layouts vary at every turn to deliver a new challenge. With 8 players, Terrorhedron multiplayer mode includes split screen or online co-op. Up to 8 players can play co-op at once on local machines, without the hassle of input lag. A number of game modes can be chosen, from the fast and furious capture the flag to multiple story-based campaigns. Features: New 3D tower defense game, with a fresh look and feel, challenging gameplay, realistic physics, player affecting AI and a full set of destruction and construction tools. - Much improved physics - tower deflection, tower push back, height / weight, gravity, collision etc all work as you would expect for a 3D game. - 100% Free Game, no ads, no in-app purchases. - A fresh playable 3D tower defense game with a new look and feel, challenging gameplay, realistic physics, player affecting AI and a full set of destruction and construction tools. - 8 players local co-op, split screen - 4 Story-based campaigns to advance through. - 3D Gravity based tower destruction and construction - Replication of the Tower Defense genre to a higher level of strategy and complexity - Highly immersive/immersive 3D graphics. - Smart phone version will be released before the end of 2015 Support for Windows XP and up, iPad/iPhone/Android, Mac OS X and Linux Screenshots and trailer may be downloaded from the, "App Store" from the AppStore. Dreamcatcher is a 3D puzzle/strategy game set on the exotic island of Trinidad. Dreamcatcher is the perfect game to step away from the normal busyness of life and just relax in the sun. Imagine the best place on earth where almost every day has a different view. This is Trinidad - the game. You are a young sorceress, but your magic has been less than adequate. You have only recently become a Dreamcatcher and your subconscious can no longer call the shadows on you. You are now suddenly struggling to make ends meet to

Phore is a futuristic multiplayer game where each player is a unique individual. Yes, it's that kind of game. It's very simple. Each player can view the game in some kind of 3D-engine, and perform actions. The actions are to either alter the player themselves, such as changing clothes, hairstyles, or changing their mindsets. Or to change the environment. In the case of the latter, they could make it toxic, or deadly, or above ground, or below ground, or launch a ballistic missile to the enemy, or make it explode, or just… anything really. The possibilities are endless, and each user is different from each other, which is why most players will want to focus on events, and make it about themselves. The game focuses a lot on this kind of interactions between users, and the game exists mostly as a result of these things, as a tool for the player. With that, now about the game. Phore is basically a massively multiplayer first-person shooter, and as such, has classes like many other games. Each player has a class that they learn, and are then set on their way, discovering the game with the help of other players. There are four classes, each having a different set of attributes, depending on what your style is. You start the game with a class called the "R" (regular) class, and you have to work your way up to the "B" (bright) class. The list of each class features their characteristics and what kind of classes they are suited for, such as "air", "water", "rock", "fire", "electricity", and so on. Each class has their own set of abilities, which allow them to perform specific actions within the game. Before you can be the chosen one, you have to wait in a queue. Users can message each other, talk to them, or even encounter one of these other players. To get a desired class, you simply pay the right amount of gb (Giga bits/Bits, this is the reference for the game's currency). You can then level up through killing enemies, or through fulfilling certain criteria. Each class can equip themselves, and also, acquire different kinds of weapons to use in the game. Now, these are the things that I have told you so far. The actual

"Please don't make us pay (taxpayers) $20,000 to produce a movie for a fraction of the cost you guys make elsewhere," John Stankey, chief executive of Paramount Pictures, told the government's media bureaucracy in a rough-and-ready budget submission titled "Return-on-Investment". "In Europe and UK-Ireland – cut, cut, cut. We don't need to be spending $20,000 to make a movie and we certainly can't afford this in Australia." The announcement landed on the desks of federal communications minister Mitch Fifield, who oversees the Australian Communications and Media Authority, and artists' minister George Brandis on Friday, the day before their half-Senate estimates hearings, during which the two bony Ministers enjoyed a warm friendly sparring and pulled no punches when it came to suggesting that taxation of some kind would be a good thing. "Let's get rid of the tax first of all," said Senator Brandis. "It is not a tax on people, it is a tax on content and I don't think that is the best way to do this." The electronic industry, including Stankey's own employer, is outraged the tax was even put to the Australian public. The exact nature of the tax remains a hotly debated topic within the industry, with
