DOWNLOAD.Q: Convert strftime date in Bash I have a string date created by Python and I need to convert it to strftime format. How can I do that? This code gives me the month name, day and year but not the time. $ID="103R5Z07Q1" date -d "$ID" +%y-%m-%d The output I am looking for is something like this: May-25-2011 A: Try it: $ ID="1Q3R5Z07Q1" $ date -d "$ID" "+%A - %d-%m-%Y" May-25-2011 If you want to only print the time part, then the simplest thing you can try would be something like: $ echo $(date -d "$ID" "+%A - %d-%m-%Y") May-25-2011 So I hope that will help you. Q: Calculating the average number of days in a month Is there a way to calculate the average number of days in a month through PHP? I currently have a form that asks for a month and day. From there, I need to calculate the average days in a month. I have an array of available days in a month. I have attempted to do this multiple times, but the results are far from accurate. It may be necessary to give more information about the program, if needed, but I will edit the question if required. e79caf774b
