Fluvastatin, an inhibitor of the mevalonate pathway, has been shown to improve endothelial cell function and reduce the incidence of cardiovascular diseases. However, the mechanism by which fluvastatin improves endothelial function is unclear. In this study, we investigated the effect of fluvastatin on the migration of human umbilical vein endothelial cells (HUVECs). Migration was measured using the Transwell assay. The expression of intercellular cell adhesion molecule-1 (ICAM-1) was measured by RT-PCR, western blotting and immunofluorescence staining. The migration of HUVECs was remarkably inhibited by fluvastatin at concentrations that did not alter the proliferation of HUVECs. In addition, fluvastatin markedly attenuated the increase in the mRNA levels and surface expression of ICAM-1 induced by tumor necrosis factor alpha (TNF-alpha). This study shows that fluvastatin inhibits the migration of HUVECs via a mechanism that involves inhibition of the ICAM-1 signaling pathway.Crimson Crimson may refer to: Places Canada Crimson, Nova 6d1f23a050
