I was having an issue using Flash media server on Ubuntu 13.04, with me having to download/install it through Google Chrome. I then installed Mint, but that didn't solve the issue. Then I tried installing Ubuntu 13.10, and it was doing the same thing, I couldn't install because of Adobe Flash crashing Firefox. After that I tried installing Ubuntu 13.10 through Wubi, and it did the same thing. So I reverted back to Ubuntu 13.04, and now when I try to install Adobe Flash through Ubuntu Software Centre it gives the following error and refuses to install. I've tried to install it through terminal by running sudo apt-get install flashplugin-installer. It tells me that it is completely installed, but I still can't install it through Ubuntu Software Centre. Running this command also gives me an error. This is the output for the commands: $ sudo add-apt-repository ppa:sevenmachines/flash Reading package lists... Done Building dependency tree Reading state information... Done E: Unable to locate package sevenmachines-flash E: Package'sevenmachines-flash' does not have a release file. N: Updating from such a repository can't be done securely, and is therefore disabled by default. N: See apt-secure(8) manpage for repository creation and user configuration details. $ sudo apt-get update 0% [Connecting to archive.ubuntu.com] [Connecting to security.ubuntu.com] 0% [Connecting to security.ubuntu.com] [Connecting to archive.ubuntu.com] connect: network is unreachable $ sudo apt-get install flashplugin-installer E:
