10) their fierce fighting skills and strong social bonds help to protect zebras from predators, which include lions , leopards , hyenas and cheetahs. when under threat, these awesome animals form a semi-circle facing the attacker, and prepare to strike if need be. and if one of the group is wounded or injured, other zebras will circle around and attempt to drive off the hungry attacker. all for one and one for all! 4) so why do zebras have stripes well, scientists arent entirely sure. their stripes perhaps serve to dazzle and confuse predators and biting insects, or to control the animals body heat. because each individuals stripes are unique, their stripes may also have a social purpose, helping zebras to recognise one other. so inspiring is the whole experience of discovering zebra2 that the manual (which has been criticised by some) works, quite rightly, more as a great reference point as you venture through this sonic jungle. ha! i reviewed zebra in 2007 and criticised the documentation as well as the presets. since then the manual has been completely rewritten, and the presets have been retired/replaced.. ;-) i have been using the u-he zebra 2 for a long time, and these days i am spending more time with dark zebra. i really like the feel of the interface, and the presets are just awesome. there are some really great sounding patches (and some patches that really need help) with a lot of different styles (rock, orchestral, tech, trance, etc.). in addition, there are some patches that are not worth downloading. it's like spending time with a friend that doesn't know how to finish a sentence.
